ARCHITECTURAL DESCRIPTION:

Describe architectural features. Evaluate the characteristics of this building in terms of other buildings within the community.

This house can be classified as Postwar Traditional in style – a term used for dwellings built after WWII that employed traditional forms. The form of the house consists of a two-story main block. The west roof has a garrison form (overhanging second floor) and the east roof has a lean-to form – both roof forms are reminiscent of Colonial-era houses. The house appears to rest on a concrete block foundation. The elevations are clad in weathered wood shingles with plain, unpainted cornerboards. The east roof slope has a centered, gable-roofed dormer, below which is a projecting entrance portico, also with a gable roof (Photo 2). Windows consist primarily of modern, thermal, 1/1 double-hung sash.

HISTORICAL NARRATIVE

Discuss the history of the building. Explain its associations with local (or state) history. Include uses of the building, and the role(s) the owners/occupants played within the community.

Incorporated as Nauset Plantation in 1646, and changed to Eastham in 1651, Eastham territory originally extended south to Pleasant Bay in Orleans and north beyond Wellfleet Harbor. The early development pattern for what we now know as Eastham was impacted by its absence of deep-water harbor facilities. Relatively fertile soil led to dispersed agricultural settlement, but residential and commercial development was concentrated to the north at Wellfleet Harbor and to the south at Town Cove and Pleasant Bay. When the separate towns of Wellfleet and Orleans were created in the late-18th century, Eastham became and remained one of the least populated towns on the Cape throughout the 19th century.

In the 19th century, Eastham was the agricultural center of the Outer Cape. Crops evolved over time; corn and dairy were surpassed in the early-20th century by asparagus and turnips - two crops well suited for the sandy soil. In 1900, 58% of Eastham's workers were employed as farmers, but by 1930 that number had dwindled to 21%. Summer resort development, including cottage colonies and subdivisions of former farmland that would transform Eastham, had begun in earnest in the 1920s as middle-class access to car ownership increased and Cape roads were improved.

This house has an Assessor date of 1936, but that is not accurate. The earliest recorded subdivision of land that included this parcel was in December of 1949 where what would become 75 Gigi Lane part of Lot B (Figure 2).¹ This plan shows a house on Lot A and a building in the northwest corner of Lot B with a very small footprint. The plan was recorded for Eastham residents Eleazer P. and Dora Greening. In a deed signed in September, 1947 and recorded in February 1948, an administrator for the estate of George H. Carlisle, late of Eastham, had sold this land to the Greenings for $1,000.² Eleazer P. Greening was born in Canada in ca. 1894, and he was listed as a "house building carpenter" in the 1950 census. Prior to moving to Eastham, they had lived in Somerville where he also worked as a carpenter. Based on title records, they appear to have arrived in Eastham when they bought this land, and moved off-Cape when they sold Lots A, B, C and D in 1950 and 1951. Indeed, these are the only transactions on record for the Greenings throughout the Cape.

In January of 1950, the Greenings sold Lots A and B in two deeds to George H. Martin of Eastham. Both deeds referenced "buildings thereon situated."³ It is unknown if the buildings referenced were again just the two shown on in the 1949 plan, or if Eleazer Greening had built additional cottages, but that seems unlikely given that the plan was drafted in December 1949 and Lots A and B were sold the next month. Also, it is George Martin who is the first to be listed in the 1951 Eastham Tax Commitment records for owning cottages. George H. Martin was born in Massachusetts in ca. 1894. As of the 1950 census, he was divorced and, like Greening, was listed as a "house building carpenter." He is also shown living next to Eleazer and Dora Greening in that census. Numerous other neighbors in North Eastham were also listed as house builders - an indication of how summer cottage construction had burgeoned.

Starting in 1938, the United States Geological Survey (USGS) began conducting periodic aerial photographic surveys of Cape Cod. The 1952 USGS photo for this location (the next survey to be done) shows how Lots A and B remained largely undeveloped and there is no indication of a house in this location (Photo 3). That said, it is likely that George Martin built this house, or this house began as one of his cottages. This was the only land he owned in Eastham. He died in early 1956, and the real estate schedule in his probate records includes a "family wood frame dwelling" and four (4) wood frame cottages in Eastham, totaling $19,425 in value. This would mean that this house, or some element of it, was first built in ca. 1952-1955. Lots A and B were inherited by his daughter, Grace Vivian Mahoney of Lakeville. In 1958, she sold both lots to Paul H. and Dorothy P. Hoffner of Bolton, MA.⁴

Paul and Dorothy Hoffner were living in North Eastham in 1967 when they sold Lots A and B to Ann B. Fowler and Nancy R. Barnes of Champlain Road in Orleans.⁵ It appears to be Ann Fowler and Nancy Barnes who first branded this cottage colony with the name Bay-Sea Cottages. They sold a 1/3 interest in Lots A and B to Harry Barnes, also of Orleans, which was the first deed to include that name.⁶ In May of 1971, they recorded of Plan of just Lot B, subdividing it into Lots 1 and 2.⁷ As can be seen on that plan, there were numerous small cottages scattered throughout Lots 1 and 2, including a cottage in this location. The next USGS aerial survey after 1952 was conducted in 1971, and it also shows how these lots and been developed with cottages (Photo 4).

In July of 1971, they sold Lots 1 and 2 on the 1971 plan to Gerard S. O'Duffy of Rochester, NY.⁸ In 1973, O'Duffy sold just Lot 1 to Kenneth A. and Joyce A. Hartson of Eastham.⁹ In 1980, they recorded a subdivision of Lot 1 into five lots, with this parcel now identified as Lot 4 with the cottage.¹⁰ In July of 1984, the Hartsons sold Lot 2 on the 1980 subdivision, and a parcel on a different subdivision, to Bay-Sea Ltd., an Eastham-based corporation, for $170,000.¹¹ In 1989, Bay-Sea Ltd. and Vernon Arnol Hatt sold Lot 2 (25 Gigi Lane, EAS.1273) and this Lot 4 to William F. Hague, Jr. and George T. Tanury of East Providence, RI.¹² In 1998, Hague and Tanury sold just this property to Lisa J. Condon of Eastham.¹³ The next year, Condon sold it to the current owners, Carolyn and Jesse James of San Francisco, CA.¹⁴
